

HOME

SENATE ▾

HOUSE ▾

[LEGISLATIVE
OFFICES](#) ▾

CALENDAR

COMMITTEES ▾

DOCUMENTS ▾

[MEMBER
RESOURCES](#)

[EMPLOYEE
RESOURCE](#)

Maine Government

Executive • Judicial • Agency Rules

Visit the State House

Tour Guide • Accessibility • Security Screening • Directions & Parking

Federal Government Documents

Law and Legislative Reference Library

- Law and Legislative Reference Library Home
- A Brief History of Indian Legislative Representatives in the Maine Legislature
- About Us
- Collections
- Contact Us
- Federal Government Documents
- Services
- Staff
- Visit Us

Ask A Law Librarian

Catalogs & Databases

Citizen Help

Continuing Legal Education \(CLE\)

Ebooks

Legislative, Legal & Historical Resources

News

Research Assistance

What is Maine's Law on...

Document Search

What is a government document?

A U.S. government document is information of public interest value, reproduced by the federal government in print or electro made available for public use.

Why does this library receive U.S. government documents?

The federal government has designated this library as one of 9 depository libraries in Maine. Partial depository libraries receive government documents in return for making them available to full depository library for our region is Fogler Library at the U Maine in Orono. Learn more about the Federal Depository Lib

What types of government documents does this library select?

We select documents primarily of interest to the Legislature and the community. These generally include administrative decisions, regulations, congressional materials and publications in the such as law enforcement, taxation, education, energy, health, the environment, and transportation.

Where are the government documents located?

Because we receive documents having various formats and use all kept in one place. Most printed documents are shelved in the (Government) stacks on the mezzanine. Some documents are shelved in Periodicals stacks on the mezzanine and others are labeled REI shelved at the end of the Reference stacks. The Code of Federal Regulations and Federal Register are shelved on the first floor near the U.S. Documents in microfiche format are filed in the metal cabinets in the library. A reference librarian can assist you in finding documents.

How do I identify specific government documents held by the library?

There are a number of sources and methods available for searching and locating documents in our collection. The Dirigo online catalog that contains many government documents and allows for searching by author, keyword or subject. A reference librarian can show you how to use the information displayed in Dirigo to find documents on our shelves. We also have additional sources, indexes and bibliographies.

How do I borrow government documents?

Maine Government

Executive • Judicial • Agency Rules

Visit the State House

Tour Guide • Accessibility • Security Screening • Directions & Parking

you with an Interlibrary Loan request form.

Can I access government information online?

The federal government is increasingly providing information. The Government Publishing Office manages an extensive collection of resources from all three branches of government, including many government document titles. These can be accessed through GPO and DiscoverGov. Our Federal Law page provides additional government information and there is a Basic Collection made

Updated 3/25/2025

A-Z List